

Colleen Simard

*Board Director
since 2021*

Colleen is Anishinaabe, Nehiyaw (Cree), and Swedish. She's a member of Peguis First Nation on Treaty One territory. She's a graduate of Red River College's Creative Communications program and currently studying Fine Arts at the University of Manitoba.

Colleen has worked as a freelance journalist with the Winnipeg Free Press, Aboriginal Peoples Television Network, CBC radio, and numerous Indigenous newspapers. She was publisher and editor of her own independent paper: Urban NDN.

Colleen launched Littlefeather - a casual Indigenous clothing line - in 2013.

Colleen's non-profit experience includes connecting with volunteers, non-profits, Newcomers, Indigenous organizations, entrepreneurs, and Elders, as well as working with an Indigenous youth art co-op.

Rossbrook House Board of Directors