

Daphne Comegan

*Board Director
since 2025*

Daphne is a member of Lac Seul First Nation (Obishikokaang) and first-generation lawyer in her family. She grew up in Winnipeg's Northend and Central areas. She practices criminal law, family law, indigenous law, wills and estates, real estate, and child protection. The first part of her career was mostly criminal law and child protection in the Manitoba North which included isolated circuit work in different First Nation communities.

Daphne has previous experience being a member of a Board of Directors through her work with the Elizabeth Fry Society where she was Vice President for a term. She has also drafted Board of Directors by laws for several First Nation Children's Advocate Agencies.

Daphne's spare time activities include playing softball, reading, and spending time with her family. She also has a son that attends the Eagle's Circle program where he has excelled and is preparing for high school.
